Plan of School Board, But

High School Football Squad
Down to Work.

DEAF MUTES OFF FOR SCHOOL.

Indigent pupils will receive much attention this year from the school officials, and they hope to break up an imposition on the schools. When a pupil's parents are financially unable to purchase books and school supplies the school board must furnish them, and this has been done. The books remain the property of the school board, but only in a few instances has the property been returned.

Superintendent J. A. Carnegie said usually the pupils belong to a class of people who move frequently and it is almost impossible to keep track of them. He has learned in some cases the books at the end of school were sold. He has notified Truant Officer W. T. Hyrd to watch all such cases and recover books. Every encouragement will be given poor children to attend school, but Mr. Hyrd will make an investigation of the condition of the family before the school board is put to the expense of purchasing books and supplies.

Superintendent Carnegie is conducting the first teachers' meetings this week. Yesterday afternoon the teachers of the first grades met and this afternoon the second grade teachers and the teachers in the departmental work met with the superintendent. Thursday afternoon the third grade teachers will meet. Friday the first meeting of the principals will be held.

Assembling Classes.
An improvement in the method of assembling classes has been made in the High school. Instead of the loud going in the hall small bells have been placed in every recitation room and by pressing a button in the auditorium the classes are dismissed and assembled for the next recitation period.

Football Squad.
The first workout was given the High school football squad yesterday afternoon by Coach Hugh B. Craig, and he was pleased at the interest the candidates displayed. Only light work was done as the boys are not yet after vacation. One of the first rules of the new coach is that smoking must go, and any candidate for the football team and name of the team must forsake his smoke or the team. William Wilhelm, manager of the team, will write for games this week. It is intended to arrange games with the High school teams from Madisonville, Hopkinsville, Metropolis and possibly Henderson and Owensboro. No doubt the first game will be October 2 and probably Metropolis will be the opponents.

Mites Return to School.
Deaf and dumb pupils in the state school left today to resume their studies after spending the vacation with friends. As is the usual custom a special coach was attached to passenger train No. 122 this morning for the accommodation of the pupils. Many relatives were at the Union station this morning to see them off.

To Operate on Johnson.
Hochester, Minn., Sept. 15.—Gov. Johnson was taken to St. Mary's hospital this afternoon and tomorrow will undergo an operation for adhesion and hernia of the intestines. The governor was feeling much better today when he left St. Paul and is cheerful over the outlook.

FORMER PADUCAHAN FASTS OVER 50 DAYS

After fasting for 50 and one-half days, Will H. Maire, of Cleveland, O., a traveling jewelry salesman, but at one time a jeweler in Paducah, is again eating in a sanatorium in Battle Creek. Owing to the length of the fast the story has been taken up by the jewelry magazines and commented upon. Maire has been in ill health for several years, and recently went to Battle Creek, where he fasted for several days. Such an improvement was noted in his condition that he tried fasting as long as possible, and it is believed that his stomach is cured. After the first eight days Maire says he did not experience hunger, until the fifty-first day, when he became ravenous. Maire is well remembered in Paducah as about ten years ago he had a jewelry store in the Palmer House. He is a charter member of the Paducah lodge of Elks.

DELIVERY WAGON PONY
CAUSES GREAT DAMAGE.

Left unhitched at the residence of F. N. Gardner, Fifth and Washington streets, while the driver, Ernest Engler, was delivering groceries at the house, a pony attached to a small delivery wagon of Engler & Bryant, grocers, took flight about 9:30 o'clock this morning and dashed out the street. Turning to Seventh street, the wagon collided with a buggy occupied by M. W. Boyd, of the Prudential Insurance company, standing at Seventh and Clark streets wrenching the right wheel and breaking the perch pole. The horse was stopped at Ninth and Clark streets after the wagon had been damaged and the shafts torn off. Market baskets were jolted from the wagon and their contents strewn over the streets.

Attorney Alben Barkley, representing the commonwealth, argued that the bones were carcasses.

Fourth District Vote is a Tie For Teacher

Trustees in school division, No. 4, of the county schools are having a lively inning in the election of a teacher for the fourth grade of the consolidated school at Lone Oak. Last night a meeting was held and the board tied on the election of Miss Eleanor Browning and Miss Harrison for the place, the vote standing four to four. Several weeks ago at a meeting Miss Browning was declared elected as she received a majority of the votes of the trustees present, but the friends of Miss Harrison claim that a majority of the trustees-elect is required to fill the place, and so strong was their appeal that a special meeting was held last night with the full board present. Although the trustees remained in session until after 11 o'clock it was impossible to untie the vote. Superintendent W. A. Middleton will receive his commission in a few days, and it will be up to him to cast this deciding vote.

ENCOURAGEMENT FOR LOWER RIVER IN VANCE'S WORDS

President of Ohio Valley Improvement Association is Hopeful.

Dams Below Paducah Aid to Tributaries.

CUMBERLAND AND TENNESSEE.

Before a small but enthusiastic representation of business men, Col. John L. Vance, of Columbus, O., president of the Ohio Valley Improvement association, made a short talk on the benefits the cities on the lower part of the river are to receive with a little push and energy. In order to encourage the association and assist in securing locks and dams between Paducah and Cairo, the motion was passed to subscribe for $500, the same as last year, to assist the association. The city council will be asked to contribute $250, while the remainder will be raised by a canvass of the merchants.

All permanent work on the Ohio river has been done above Louisville, but at present government engineers are at work between Paducah and Cairo locating sites for permanent locks and dams. At the next session of congress much work is contemplated, but Colonel Vance quoted committee men as saying that on account of the heavy commerce on the Ohio river it is the only stream that justified the heavy expense. As he expressed it, the association is on the eve of success, and by being able to get in work at the next session of congress there is little doubt that the lower Ohio river will be improved.

The meeting was presided over by Vice-President Sol Dreyfuss. He introduced Colonel Vance, who said he would only talk, and not deliver an address. He expressed pleasure and satisfaction at the work already accomplished, and said after fourteen years of work he could see the dream realized at last. Above Pittsburgh, he said, it required six blocks and dams to cover 23 miles, owing to the rapid fall of the river. By this work he said it was possible to return empty coal barges 61 days longer each year than without the improvement. At Cincinnati, he said, one dam would cover 31 miles while, at Louisville, one dam sufficed for thirty miles. Two dams below Paducah he said, would not only regain the lower Ohio below the mouth of the Kentucky river, but also revive the commerce of the Tennessee river, and much of the Cumberland river. He closed with an appeal for the merchants to write the United States senators, and urge them to work for the improvement. He said to secure the aid of the six senators of Kentucky, Illinois, and Indiana, would mean much for the accomplishment of the work on the lower Ohio river.

Welcome at Cairo.

Secretary Saunders A. Fowler stated he was with Colonel Vance in Cairo, and that a hearty welcome was extended, and Cairo will contribute liberally for the work. An invitation was extended all merchants to attend the annual meeting of the association in Cincinnati, October 14 and 15. An especial invitation is urged for the men to take their wives and members of their families, as the women of Cincinnati have formed a club for the purpose of entertaining the visiting women, and Colonel Vance guaranteed a pleasant visit. Cairo has promised to send a large delegation, and if a proper delegation from Paducah is secured, a special car from Paducah to Cincinnati will be chartered.

Mr. Fowler said the work will be of the greatest importance to Paducah, and, as the government engineers have reported that the work is advisable, he thought there is little doubt that it will be ordered at the next session of congress, but opposition must be overcome.

He said Cairo and many towns along the river have secured reduction in freight rates already, and he thought Paducah would receive a 20 per cent. freight rate reduction if the work were started.

Colonel Vance left at noon for Evansville, where he will deliver an address tonight, and urge the Indiana citizens to use every power to convince the representatives of the importance of the work.

HANSON SAYS IT'S THEOSOPHY

PRESIDENT OF GEORGIA RAIL-ROAD FILES ANSWER.

Declares He Had a Happy Family
Until Theosophy Entered With Its Fanatical Tendencies.

CAUSE OF MARITAL TROUBLE

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 15.—Theosophy is blamed by Major J. F. Hanson, president of the Central of Georgia railroad, for the marital troubles which led his wife, Mrs. Cora L. Hanson, to bring suit recently for divorce. Mrs. Hanson charged cruelty, neglect and too much attention on the part of the major to Mrs. "Jack" Horner, now Mrs. James McViekar, a beautiful young woman of New York. Major Hanson filed his answer in the superior court of Fulton county. It contains 21 pages of printed matter, and categorically denies each of his wife's charges. In conclusion he says:

"Furthering answering plaintiff's bill, defendant avers that until theosophy came in as an element of discord he had a united and happy family.

"The theosophists of the defendant's family added to the zeal of new
converts the arrogance, intolerance,
aggression and bigotry of fanatics,
and sought to lead or drive every one around them into theosophy. The defendant's house at Macon soon became the headquarters for this character of work in the city. Defendant's refusal to entertain the idea
even of becoming a theosophist, because he regarded it a modern form
of paganism, caused the first change
in plaintiff's feeling toward him.
When every effort to force defendant
to bear the burdens of theosophy by putting up money for the Universal Brotherhood scheme had failed, the plaintiff, with one other member of his family, resolved to attack him in such way that public defense would be impossible and destroy him.

Family became theosophists.
"Before members of defendant's family became theosophists they were
kind, considerate and respectful;
afterwards they opposed in every conceivable way the wishes of the defendant. Defendant does not believe that this cruel and unjust treatment
by members of his own family was due to any natural perversity on their part, but that it was due to the fanaticism resulting from the acceptance of theosophy.

"The defendant further alleges
that the association with Mrs. Horner
is a mere incident in the campaign
that was being made against him by the theosophists of his family, because they could not force him to
bow his neck to the yoke of theoso-
phy. Having failed to lead or drive him into theosophy, or to persuade or force him directly or indirectly to contribute financial assistance, it was determined to attack him
in the manner that plaintiff knew
that it was impossible to properly
defend himself.

Both Major Hanson and his wife
are well advanced in years, while
Mrs. McViekar is quite young.

RAILROAD NOTES

Five cars were derailed last night
in the south yards, and turned over.
One engine was working in the north end of the yards, and a second
engine was puffing in the south
end. A long string of cars intervened, and the mix-up occurred. The damage was slight, as the wrecker
picked up the cars, and replaced
them on the rails. A caboose was smashed up on one end slightly.

An investigation will be made of the wreck at Mayfield yesterday
when fast passenger train, 102, collided with the rear end of a freight.
Engineer Lloyd was at the throttle
of the passenger train and Conductor Whedon was in charge of the passenger locomotive. The engineer of the passenger locomotive is out of service until the investigation.

Strict orders have been issued by the officials to engineers to keep
persons other than employees from riding on locomotives. The order includes switch and road engines.

The September issue of the Illinois Central Employees' magazine has been received by the Paducah employees. The issue is full of interesting notes, written up in a breezy style. In the magazine a number of old-timers are written, and among them is Emile Goulioux, a foreman
in the car department of the Paducah
shops. With the notice is an excellent half-tone of Mr. Goulioux.
He entered railroad work in 1863
and in 1870 was a section foreman
for the Decatur & Nashville railroad. While living that position, J.
T. Harahan, now president of the Illinois Central railroad, was appointed roadmaster of the railroad.
In 1878 he entered the service of the old Paducah & Memphis railroad, and has served continuously
in the Paducah shops, despite the fact that ownership has changed several times.

Tomorrow morning the pay car
will arrive, and joy will be in the hearts of the employees of the Illinois Central. It will be the biggest pay day in several months as the increased force will be felt in the pay roll
for the first time. The car will arrive at 7:30 o'clock from Cairo, and will remain in Paducah all day.

"Three Is" Brown in Form.
Cincinnati, Sept. 15.—Mordecai Brown had the Cincinnati club at his mercy, one single base hit being
all that was made off his delivery.
Brown hit that in the fifth inning, and
was doubled up by Lohert a mo-

was effective in all but one inning,
but then the visitors hit him hard
enough to make four runs aided by Brown's fumble. The game was phys-

Double Umpire System Favored.

New York, Sept. 15.—John Heyd-
ler, president of the National league,
in laying plans for his organization
to have the double umpire system
again next season, his first move in this direction being the engagement
of William Brannan, recently an arbitrator in the Wisconsin-Illinois league. Brannan will be delegated to umpire games in the West, and if he makes a good showing will be regularly engaged. Harry Phillips,
the late president of the National league, saw Brannan work and was
well pleased with his decisions.
Mace, of the Virginia State league,
and Steinburg, of the Connecticut
State league, have excellent chances
of becoming National league umpires next season.

President Heydler started for Chicago this afternoon, the probability
being that there will be an important meeting in that city on Thursday of the National league to arrange the details of the coming world's championship series. Arrangements will then be made about
the distribution of the prize money,
and a representative for the National league then will be selected to act
for this organization in a business capacity.

The lines assessed against Chicago players for kicking on decisions
by Umpire Kien in the recent Chicago-Pittsburgh series have been resolved at National league headquarters, as well as a complaint by Charles W. Murphy, president of the Chicago club, against Kien being allowed to umpire any more games
in the National league in which his team participates. Mr. Murphy's protest is so strong that perhaps it will be brought to the attention of the National commission.

A man may be too busy at the office to attend a funeral—unless it is that of the home team.

NATURE'S HAIR RESTORER

WYETH'S SAGE AND SULPHUR HAIR RESTORER

One Great Reason Why
This Great Hair Beautifier and Color Restorer
Produces Such Remarkable Results

Sulphur Is a Natural Element of the Hair.

When there is not a sufficient amount of sulphur in the hair, it loses its life, color and strength, turns gray, and falls out. There are many forms of sulphur, but only one kind that is suitable for treatment of the hair and scalp; and that is the kind used in preparing WYETH'S SAGE AND SULPHUR HAIR RESTORER.

BALDNESS CURED

For two or three years my hair had been falling out and getting quite thin until the top of my head was entirely bald.
About four months ago I commenced using Sage and Sulphur. The first bottle seemed to do some good and I kept using it regularly, until now I have used four bottles, and while top of my head is now fairly covered with hair, and it keeps coming in thicker. I shall keep on using it a while longer, as I notice a constant improvement.

NOT TO CANAL ZONE.

Acting Attorney General Hills Gives Decision.

Washington, Sept. 15.—The new tariff law will not apply to the Isthmian canal zone, according to a decision by acting Attorney General Wade H. Hills to the secretary of war. The canal zone is not one of the "possessions" of the United States
within the meaning of that term in the first clause of the tariff act, but rather a place subject to use, occupation and control of the United States
for the construction and maintenance
of a ship canal connecting the waters
of the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.
The effect of the decision will be
to continue the present system by which the Panama government collects duties on all importations in
the canal zone not for the use of the commission or employees in connection with the canal's construction.

A PRISONER

INFORMS JAILER OF ATTEMPT TO BREAK OUT.

Inmates of County Jailhouse Were Removing Bricks and Mortar to Escape.

A second unsuccessful attempt to break jail was made at the county jail yesterday afternoon by the prisoners, but the efforts were thwarted by a prisoner, who informed Deputy Jailer Joe Purchase. When the prisoners were placed in the round cage an investigation was made and one brick had been removed from the wall near the first floor, which is occupied by the negro prisoners. In a short time another jail delivery would have been possible, as several bricks had been worked loose.

No names would be given out by the jailer, one of the prisoners in the jail is trusted, and when anything is wrong he taps on the door and the jailer makes an investigation. Yesterday afternoon the warning was given, and he said two prisoners were at work on the wall. They were working with a short iron bar, a piece of steel and a piece of broom handle.

The prisoners are released from their cells for only short times, as this is the second attempt to bore through the wall. At the last meeting of the fiscal court a committee was appointed to make an investigation of placing sheet iron against the wall to prevent the prisoners from having an opportunity of scraping out the mortar from between the bricks.

INCOME TAX AND TEXTILE TAX WILL BE REDUCED.

Salaries for Military and Civil Arms Will Be Raised—Premier Kato Outlines Financial Policy.

TAXATION TO BE MORE UNIFORM

Tokio, Sept. 15.—In a speech to be delivered before the bankers' club tomorrow night Premier Kato will outline the financial policy of the government for the coming year in anticipation of the annual budget, which will be adopted soon by the diet.

It is generally understood that there will be no increase in the expenditures for the maintenance of the army and navy.

According to the belief prevailing here, it is proposed for the coming year to secure greater uniformity of taxation. No taxes will be abolished, but the income tax and those on the textile business will be reduced.

The salaries for military and civil arms will be raised.

PRESIDENT TAFT

ly late this afternoon and arrived at the hall escorted by the national guards, the governor's body guard. The streets about the hall were thronged with cheering crowds when the cavalcade drew up.

The president's reception preceded the banquet began immediately.

What Taft Said.
Taft said: "Occasionally I hear the query, why should I start on such a trip, and what particular good does it do to anybody? It isn't going to be a pleasure trip although I shall enjoy it. It will involve much hard work and mental effort to think of these things to say, and say, them simply and clearly, but it will certainly give me a much more accurate impression of the views of the people in the sections visited. It will bring me closely to the needs of particular sections, as far as national legislation is concerned; and executive action is concerned; and I believe will make me a wiser and a better public officer."

"I ought to be able to explain some of the difficulties of government, some problems of solution from the standpoint of the executive and legislative as distinguished from that of the honest but irreproachable critic. Personal touch between the people and the men to whom they temporarily delegate power, of course, conduces to a better understanding between them."

Banking and Monetary System.

"It is certain that our banking and monetary system is a patched up affair which satisfies nobody. The monetary commission, which has been studying the financial and banking systems of the European governments, will soon publish the best accounts of the world's financial systems. It is apparent that the trend of the minds of the monetary commission is toward a central bank of issue which shall control the reserve and exercise power to control stringencies."

"The commission's conclusions may be delayed beyond the next session of congress. Meantime the commission intend to institute a campaign of education in order to arouse public opinion to the necessity of a change in our monetary and banking systems, and to have the advantages of placing some form of control over the money market and reserve in the hands of an intelligent body of financiers responsible to the government. I am told that Senator Aldrich, chairman of the commission, will lecture in many cities in the middle west on the defects of the monetary system. I cannot too strongly approve this Aldrich, who is a leader of the senate and one of the ablest statesmen in financial matters in either house has been regarded with deep suspicion by many people, especially in the west. If, with his clear ideas and simple effective style of speaking, he makes apparent to western people his desire to crown his political career by the preparation and passage of a bill which gives us a sound and safe monetary banking system, it would be a long step toward removing political obstacles to a proper solution."

The Tariff Bill.

"I am not going to discuss the merits and demerits of the new tariff bill with you. I shall often refer to that before the journey is ended. It is sufficient to say that the passage of the bill has removed the disturbing element in business. Nor shall I dwell on the necessity of amending the interstate commerce and anti-trust laws and the organization of the government departments with a view to promoting greater efficiency and expedition in the settlement of controversies arising under them. During Roosevelt's administration we were all struck with the necessity of reform in business methods, and the necessity of simplifying the law to make it clear to corporate managers what they can and cannot do."

"We are, I believe, on the eve of another great business expansion

YES! MONEY BACK.

Parisian Sage, the Hair Renewer, is Now Sold in America on Money-Back Plan.

Tried them all and failed, thousands of people will say. Try the real Parisian Sage and succeed as thousands have done. In Paris Dr. Smbourand discovered the dandruff microbe and the way to kill it.

In Paris women have most abundant, beautiful, lustrous and fascinating hair.

They know about hair and its diseases in Paris, far more than we do. They have institutions where the study of the hair is made a specialty. Parisian Sage is the only certain destroyer of the dandruff microbe which is the cause of 97 per cent of hair troubles.

These pernicious, persistent and destructive little devils thrive on the ordinary hair tonics. Parisian Sage is such an extraordinary and quick acting rejuvenator that Gilbert's drug store, who is the agent in Paducah, guarantees it to cure dandruff, stop falling hair and itching scalp in two weeks or money back.

Parisian Sage is most daintily perfumed; it is an ideal preparation, not sticky or greasy.

It is a magnificent dressing for women who desire luxuriant, lustrous hair that compels admiration, and nothing is so good to keep the head cool and free from odors in summer.

And a large bottle of Parisian Sage cost only 50 cents at Gilbert's drug store, and at lending druggists all over America. The girl with the Auburn hair is on every package. Made in America by Gironx Mfg. Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

The hum of prosperity, the astetay of great profits, are likely to dull our interest in these reforms unless we insist upon legislation which will clinch and enforce these standards by positive law.

Conservation Policy.

"Needs respecting the conservation of national resources, the amendment of the public land system; the execution of the pure food law; and all the rest of the important matters demanding attention, make the legislative and executive labor heavy enough. If our purpose is carried out to exhaust the energy of the most enthusiastic."

"Our country is making progress. Occasionally one hears a complaint like that of Governor Johnson, denouncing the east, calling upon the west to organize against the east because the east is deriving more benefit from the governmental policy than the west at the west's expense. It is as difficult to treat such an appeal as seriously. Throughout this country there is free trade of the freest character and due to this prosperity of the west, especially the agricultural west, even more pronounced than that of the east. The east is too close to the west by ties, ancestry, associations and connections to make such an attempt at sectionalism successful. Never since the war has the feeling between the north and south been more cordial and friendly than today, and a political attempt to make a cleavage between the east and the west will only confound those who propose it."

"Things are not perfect; but we have made progress. We have a right to believe that further progress is likely, that conditions are improving and that we may continue to maintain for all citizens that equality of opportunity which is the highest object of well conducted government to preserve."

The climax of enthusiasm during Taft's speech was reached when the president touched upon sectional differences. With a rising inflection and forceful gesture he declared, "as president of the United States I may well lift up my voice to protest against any effort, by whomsoever made, to array section against section and Americans against Americans."

Practically the entire assembly cheered the speaker. Many leaped to their feet in endorsement of the president's remarks, the applause being echoed by the galleries.

The president was cheered loudly at the close of the address.

OHIO GRAFTERS IN JOB LOTS

OVER HALF MILLION DOLLARS INVOLVED IN DEALS.

Caught By Hidden Camera in Act of Taking the Bribe Money—Bonds Swiftly Made For Avenge.

17 BUSINESS MEN INDICTED

Toledo, O., Sept. 15.—A decided sensation was created throughout the state when the names of the seventeen business men indicted by the special grand jury, which has been investigating charges of bribery and grafting in Youngstown, Ohio, city, and Mahoning county affairs, were made public today.

The indicted men include some of the most wealthy and prominent men in the state, and it is learned from the prosecutor's office that their operations will come close to $600,000.

Warrants were issued for their arrest, but in no case was it necessary to serve them. Each of the indicted officials voluntarily appeared before Judge Robinson early in the day to arrange for bonds. Judge Robinson fixed the bonds at $1,000 for one count and $2,000 for above that. In each case the men were ready to furnish it.

Following is the complete list of indicted men: North Newton, now of Virginia, former president of the good roads commission, three indictments; Samuel Brunstetter, member of the good roads commission, seven indictments; George Price, head of the good roads commission, two indictments; John R. Squire, well-known politician and former member of the board of public safety, one indictment; Warren H. Hale, county commissioner and member of the courthouse building commission, three indictments; N. H. Milligan, contractor, six indictments; Thomas J. Heilige, member of the city board of education, one indictment; George W. Ripple, contractor, two indictments; William W. Kelly, contractor, two indictments; O. C. Starr, contractor, two indictments.

At It For Twenty Years.

One of the officials indicted is declared to have admitted carrying on a system of grafting for at least twenty years back. The work of the detectives and the method by which evidence was gathered was similar to the method employed in the Pittsburgh graft cases.

At the Todd hotel, where the detectives made their headquarters, a proper stage setting had been arranged for the victims. While one man worked with a suspect in the principal room of the suite where the chief work of the investigation was carried on, witnesses and stenographers were at work in an adjoining room, with which communication had been established by means of a false door. A photographer also was concealed in the second room, and by an ingenious device was enabled to take photographs of the detectives and suspected grafters.

Public officers were approached by detectives who represented themselves to be agents of companies also dealing in products largely used in county and city affairs. The public officer was wine and dined, and at the right moment given the hint for the passing of a bribe.

After having accepted the offer of a bribe the public officer was led to a room of the detectives, that the passing of the actual money might be of an absolutely private nature. In each case it is said that the money was turned over in this room as the eyes of the hidden witnesses and the hidden camera took in every detail of the scene and the expert stenographers took down the shorthand notes, which in court will offer the major part of the testimony against the accused.

BURIED CITY FOUND.

Important Archeological Discovery Is Made In Mexico.

Mexico City, Sept. 15.—An important archeological discovery was announced here today by Prof. Rmon Mena, who headed a government expedition to Otumba, in the state of Mexico, which has uncovered a buried city of great antiquity. A pyramid similar to that uncovered at San Juan de Teotihuacan has been exposed. The pyramid is sixty feet in height and measures 200 feet square at the base.

The remains indicate that the city was built and occupied in the time of the Toltecs.

MAULL BROTHERS, St. Louis, Mo.

Rats Cost Householders of These United States Many Millions in Year.

Washington, Sept. 15.—Twenty million dollars was the total damage inflicted by the common household rat on city dwellers of the United States during the past year. The pest has ruined goods to the value of nearly four breadstuffs.

These figures are the official estimate of the biological survey of the United States department of agriculture. The loss which the whole nation sustains annually can only be guessed at—statistics are not easily obtained in scattered rural communities—but a careful canvass among business men in a dozen or more large cities indicated a net loss of twenty millions a year.

In the year book of the department, just issued, these statistics are quoted as the necessity for signing the rodent's death warrant.

"The rat continues also to exult in grave apprehension," says Secretary Wilson, in his general resume, "because of its agency in distributing the dreaded plague and other diseases."

Boards of health and the marine hospital service in several of our maritime cities have been prosecuting active war against the rodents, and large sums have been expended in efforts to effect their extermination. No one method has proved adequate, and only by concerted, systematic and persistent efforts is it possible to reduce and keep down their numbers. The rat-proof construction of buildings, the constant use of traps and the use of poisons wherever possible will go far toward assuring public safety."

Secretary Wilson advises against the use of the so-called bacterial cultures for the extermination of the pests. He says that experiments have proved that only the rats that eat the bait die, and that the disease with which the bacteria affects them is apparently not communicated to other rodents. Plain poison is the best remedy.

Dirigible Not the Way.

If Walter Wellmann, whose dirigible balloon was recently wrecked on his second start for the north pole, ever succeeds in steering his craft to that much sought spot, it will only be a case of rare luck.

At least, that is the opinion of the signal corps officers here who are attached to the new aeronautical bureau, and have studied and experimented with balloons, dirigibles and aeroplanes and figured out their relative efficiency.

Lieut. Benjamin D. Foulois, who has qualified as an expert through many a cloud journey in army balloons and dirigibles, and who was Orville Wright's companion of the famous ten mile cross-country aeroplane flight, expresses the opinion that if the pole is ever reached through the sky it will be in an aeroplane.

"It has been my experience," he said today, "that a dirigible becomes less efficient as the wind increases. I haven't a very intimate knowledge of atmospheric conditions in the polar regions, but from what I have read I gather that there is generally a high wind prevailing. It is my theory that if the resistance of this wind could be overcome there might be a good chance for a dirigible to make the dash. I do not think there would be motor trouble, or that the condensation of the gas would greatly interfere. Still, if Walter Wellmann should succeed in conquering the pole with his airship I would be greatly surprised. It would be a case of rare good luck. To my mind, an airplane stands a much better show."

Lieutenant Foulois even doubts whether Count Zeppelin, notwithstanding his skill as an aeronaut, and the remarkable "air-worthiness" of his famous dirigible, could reach the pole. "The dirigible," he added, "is only useful so long as the atmospheric conditions are favorable. No long sustained flight against such winds as must sweep the ice fields of the polar regions appears possible."

PETER PURYEAR.
 Notary Public McCracken Co.
 My commission expires January 10, 1912.

Daily Thought.
 Love is eternal because it never worries about dying.

If President Taft returns without the sleeping sickness, malaria, frost bite, sun stroke, pellagra or hay fever, he will be Hale Bill, indeed.

The "Harriman pole" will be carried out, no doubt, because those who are scheming to get hold of the Harriman lines think his policies will just suit their ends.

The Mr. Cook engaged in the controversy as to whether or not he discovered the north pole is not the same gentleman, who presides on the bench of the Third Judicial district of Kentucky, although that gentleman just at present is enveloped in the darkness of an Arctic midnight.

For an innocent man, Police Inspector McCann, of Chicago, is confronted with a mass of human testimony to the effect that he is a grafter. It is unfortunately true, that in spite of the legal presumption of innocence, the public is inclined to presume an officer guilty of graft until he is proven innocent, and more unfortunate still, the public has some justification for its presumption.

The Owensboro Messenger predicated a column and a half editorial on the following statement:

"Protectionists on the stump are in the habit of telling the voter that tariff duties are paid by the foreigner. They never go so far as to attempt to prove this assertion by facts, however."

We might have saved the Messenger all that space by informing it that protectionists do not tell any such thing.

SENTIMENT AND CRIME.

Municipal Judge W. N. Gemmill, of Chicago, in a recent address, said: "During the last two years a wave of sentiment has spread over this entire community that does nothing less than foster anarchy," he said. "It is a weekly, silly, give-a-man-another-chance idea that is virtually knocking the props from under our laws. There are 2,000 professional pickpockets in Chicago. They are brought before me day after day in court and always they ask for a jury trial. I have kept count of these trials, and nine times out of ten these pickpockets are set free and go back to ply their nefarious vocations again."

There is much truth in that. Europeans cannot appreciate the reason of it, and attribute the lax enforcement of our laws to natural lawlessness and lack of morality among our people, whose standards of morality, really, are of so Puritan a type, that even in England they cannot understand our point of view.

There is a natural sympathy for the individual and chivalry in this country, that responds quickly to a human appeal. It is easily taken advantage of by the clever criminal lawyer with a taste for the melodramatic. The judge on the bench soon familiarizes himself with faces, types and excuses. A new jury each day receives a new appeal. There is no more crime here than in Europe; but the reason is that our people as a whole are better off, the responsibility of the individual is greater, and this necessity strengthens character. The judge is right, however, in much that he says about the sickly sentimentality, where there should be repulsion at the crime, and discrimination between facts of evidence and what is obviously clap-trap to trick the emotions.

AMERICA'S JOSEPH.

James J. Hill, railroad pioneer, wheat expert, economist, financier and student, promises to be the Joseph of America, ignoring the petty questions, which agitate the mentally near-sighted, he sticks to the one supreme material question of living, and stands pat upon the proposition that the food supply of nations is the greatest economic question the greatest minds of the age can consider.

At the meeting of the American Bankers' association at Chicago yesterday, Mr. Hill spoke of the agricultural outlook and his words made the intricate questions of business methods, discussed by other eminent authorities, seem little.

"There are few more interesting chapters in history than those detailing the relation between industrial development, the food supply and the growth and decline of political institutions and national greatness. Civilization is mostly the story of the triumph of the human stomach in its struggle for food equal to the work of physical and mental evolution. Events and epochs that puzzled the historians of the past are explained by a study of common human experience. An economic cycle runs through all the affairs of men from the earliest times. There is a period of foundation-laying, in which agriculture is the accepted resource of the state, and national strength is built upon it. Then the demand for an enlarged life stimulates the manufacturing and the commercial interests, and there ensues a period of great prosperity which sees the rise of great fortunes and the relative decline of the food supply, the introduction of luxury, the growth of indolence and a universal increase in prices. Never yet has this enhanced cost of living, when due to agricultural decline and inability to supply national needs failed to end in a national disaster. Professor Ferrero, in his story of 'The Greatness and Decline of Rome', after describing the agricultural depression of Italy, the ruin of her peasantry and the distress of all classes that followed, attributes it 'simply to the increased cost of living.' This, rather than imperial ambition or race decay, is the key by which history unlocks the secrets of the past."

"Once the valley of the Euphrates was earth's garden spot. Its greatness passed with the deterioration of its soil. When Greece was at the summit of her power, her ambition was to capture the grain trade by holding sway over the Black Sea and the Bosphorus. Even in good seasons Attica is said to have been obliged to import about 1,500,000 bushels of wheat. Every one of the great nations of antiquity guided its foreign relations and directed its invasions and conquests with a view to obtaining an adequate food supply. That was the value of Egypt to the Roman empire. That determined her policies in the east. Spain in her greatness scoured the world for the food which her own soil had ceased to yield. With the decline of agriculture every one of these nations lost its leadership and either disappeared or remained a mere name."

"If, in a population of 100,000,000 people, which we shall have shortly, 45 per cent. are engaged in agriculture, then 45,000,000 people are calling upon the labor of 55,000,000 for clothing, professional service, commercial help, tools and furniture and all the smaller comforts and luxuries. If, instead, the agricultural percentage is reduced to 30 only 30,000,000 people instead of 45,000,000 people make such demands, while 70,000,000 instead of 55,000,000 compete in supplying them. A stationery or declining product, a soil becoming annually less productive, a revolt against the life of the farm and a consequent rise in wages amounting, since 1895 to 55.6 per cent. for ordinary day labor on the farm without board and 61.3 per cent. with board, compel such a rise of all prices as bears ruinously upon town and country alike. Our real concern is not so much to save the home market from inroads of the foreigner as to keep it from destruction by an enlarged city life and a neglected country life. A crowded artisan population clamoring for food and a foreign demand for the product of their wages limited to fields, where the competition of all the world must be met, and overcome."

"The situation, then, sums itself up thus: We have almost reached a point where, owing to increased production per acre, our home food supply will be insufficient for our own needs; within ten years, possibly less, we are likely to become a wheat-importing nation."

He produces figures that stagger us, showing that people are leaving the farms, and adding to the population of already overcrowded cities, while the farm acreage is beginning to decrease and the productivity has fallen from 30 to 10 bushels to the acre. He shows how by proper scientific farming the productivity of farms in old sections can be increased three-fold. He suggests intensive farming of small tracts as the solution, and while recognizing the good work done by the national department of agriculture and the state experiment stations, he says they are not big enough for the job. He calls on the bankers and financiers to take hold of the problem and help train the farmers.

Mr. Hill's lesson, like most sermons, we fear, will be applied to the "other fellow"; but we know of no section that needs more to take this lesson to heart than the south, and no where in the south more than around Paducah.

There are men here making money on farms. There are thousands of acres capable of making men comfortably rich, if properly treated. The question, which is soon to face the nation, the bread supply, we face already—the fact that we pay tribute to other sections every day for the food we eat. Highly developed agricultural regions did not feel the panic. There is a significant fact. If our farmers would turn their attention to the number of bushels they could raise to the acre, instead of the number of acres they can hoast this country would prosper as never before.

Let us hope that J. J. Hill's advice will be accepted before his prophecy comes true. We are too prone to point with pride to the heroism of the Pilgrim Fathers and the achievements of our sires. It is up to us to prove ourselves the worthy sons and daughters of those sires, by improving the conditions they established in agriculture, as well as city building.

SOME STORIES AROUND TOWN

Employees of the express office at the Union station were held at bay this morning by a ferocious looking bulldog that slipped through the bars of a cage. The dog was shipped to Paducah last night and was placed in the express room. In some manner it escaped and then the fun began. The employees had important papers in the room and other freight that had to be shipped. First one and then another would open the door slightly and peep in, and then the door would be closed with a bang. The dog was enjoying his romp to his heart's content and would rush for the door every time it was opened. Seeing the freight had to be secured one employee risked his life while the police stood at the door with revolvers in hand ready to annihilate the pup if necessary. The entrance was made safely and a few taps on the dog's nose received a few taps on the head. Seeing the dog was a pet everybody about the station became brave quickly and assisted in forcing the prisoner back into his box.

One section of the report had to do with the fight against the temperance movement. It was recommended that the brewmasters in the different parts of the country organize friendly organizations in their localities for the purpose of shutting off the encroachments of the temperance workers.

It was recommended, though, that only those societies which had no political affiliations be included in the several alliances.

Government Seeks Data.

The Pittsburgh Post says: With the object of learning the exact value of the Ohio river as a traffic-carrying agency, the federal government is seeking data on the river operations dating back to the earliest possible period. The work is in charge of Col. W. T. Russell, of the United States corps of engineers, in charge of the improvements of the Ohio river, and he has been requested to furnish an exhaustive report on the subject. Boatmen and rivermen in all parts of the Ohio valley have been asked to aid Col. Russell, who is located at Cincinnati. The report is to be by no means a mere statement of the number of tons of freight carried, nor of the boats operated, nor of the stages of the water. It is to be a history of the river traffic, going back to the earliest times possible and showing what a wonderful agency as it has been in the upbuilding of the west. Col. Russell says he desires information in particular about the old river freight traffic, especially through rates, and that he would be glad to have the pictures of the different types of boats which have been operated, especially those of the earlier days.

Miscellaneous.
 The Evansville packet Chattanooga, did not arrive in port until 8:30 o'clock last night and left at 10 o'clock for Evansville. However, she is making the best time of the packet boats in that trade.

The J. B. Richardson, which has been undergoing repairs below the wharf for several days, probably will be pulled up on the marine ways this week for repairs to her hull. A new wheel will be made for her and carpenters have just finished putting in new timbers.

The Hyman line has decided to go into the Paducah and Cairo trade with the Bob Dudley, and sent her out this morning at 8 o'clock in command of Capt. Robert Crider, of Nashville, who arrived in the city last night. St. Molinski came in from Cairo last night and went out as head clerk this morning. Dennis Smith went as pilot. The Dick Fowler, the regular Cairo packet, may not get off the ways at Mound City for a longer time than a week and the Dudley will continue the trade until the Fowler is ready.

Captain Robert Crider came in from Nashville last night, where he left the Bob Dudley, of which he has been commander. Capt. Frank White took his place on the boat and she is expected here not before Friday.
 Capt. A. L. Duck, a former partner of Capt. E. A. Awt, yesterday afternoon received his fine motor boat "Keen Kitter," from the Mullins company, Salem, O., and she was launched at the wharfboat and given a successful tryout today. The boat is one of the finest owned here and has a steel hull. Her engines, of the Ferro make, are forward and are 25 horse power, giving the craft a speed of 18 miles an hour. She is 26 feet long with a five foot beam and was built at a cost of $1,600. Captain Duck is proud of her and will use her for pleasure parties and expects to walk by all other boats in the harbor. L. L. Nelson, of this city, is agent for the company.

IN SOCIAL CIRCLES

Kitchen Shower.
In honor of Miss Brooks Smith whose marriage to Mr. Harry Singleton took place this morning, Miss Alma Kopf entertained yesterday afternoon at her home, Fifth and Madison streets, with an unique kitchen shower. The parlor was festooned with roses of red crepe paper representing strings of amilax in the center attached to the chandelier. Her was a large wedding hall of paper filled with rice and the cords were attached to this. Miss Smith was enticed under the bell and the guests pulled the cords and she was showered with rice. Then the many articles of kitchen utensils scattered around the room were presented to the bride-elect. After Miss Smith had been instructed in the use of the articles ice cream and cake were served. The guest list numbered about 40.

Miss Smith and Mr. Singleton Married This Morning.

A pretty home wedding took place this morning at 8 o'clock when Miss Brooks Smith and Mr. Harry F. Singleton were married at the home of the bride, 833 Madison street. In the presence of relatives and the intimate friends the ceremony was performed by the Rev. G. T. Sullivan, pastor of the Broadway Methodist church, in an impressive manner. For the wedding the home was prettily decorated with palms and ferns and a color scheme of green and white was carried out. Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Guy Martin sang "All For You," and as a processional Mendelssohn's wedding march was played. During the ceremony Miss Mary Scott played softly. The bride looked charming in a traveling suit of dark blue with hat, gloves and shoes to match. She carried a shower of American beauty roses. Following the ceremony a reception was held for the couple and many friends called to extend congratulations. Mrs. Charles DeWorthen, Miss Elizabeth Sobree and Miss Alma Kopf received the guests while Miss Elsie Hodge presided at the punch bowl. Mr. and Mrs. Singleton were the recipients of some handsome gifts. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Smith, and is a young woman with a pleasing personality and has a host of friends. Mr. Singleton is the son of Mrs. Oscar Kahn, and is a young man popular in business as well as in social life. He is employed in the Paducah Banking company.

After the ceremony the couple escaped the rice shower and eluded their friends, who were on the front porch, by leaving the rear of the house and entering an automobile, which carried them to Maxon Mills, where they boarded the train for St. Louis and cities in the northwest on a two weeks' wedding trip. On their return the couple will be at home at Fourth and Madison streets.

NEW BREED OF CATTLE.

John Marriage to Exhibit His Famous Muleys.

Oklahoma, City, Okla., Sept. 15.—A new breed of cattle that is wholly American is to be one of the most distinctive and interesting exhibits at the state fair this year. John Marriage, of Kiowa county, Kansas, is the owner of these cattle, and it has taken 25 years of patient and intelligent intermingling of the different breeds for him to bring the "Marriage muleys" to their present state of perfection. Mr. Marriage has crossed the best blood of many breeds, both of the dairy and beef varieties, and the product is an animal alike remarkable for the richness and quality of its milk and bulk and quantity of beef.

MOTHER'S FRIEND

SOIL GOOD

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE DEFENDS IT.

Says Proper Cultivation of Old Land Will Increase Its Productiveness.

Washington, Sept. 15. (United Press.)—Prof. Milton Whitney, who is chief of the bureau of soils of the department of agriculture, and the foremost authority on this subject in the country, makes an official and strenuous denial of the oft-repeated assertion that the soils of the United States are wearing out, and that crop yields are decreasing. On the contrary, he declares that farmers of this nation are getting more out of their soil than ever before.

"As a whole," Professor Whitney says, "it seems probable that we are producing more crops per acre than formerly. This is undoubtedly due to many factors; to better and more intelligent cultivation, more and better systems of rotation of crops, and in later years to the intelligent use of fertilizers through measures of control in the hands of every individual farmer. In addition, we must recognize the increase in farm animals and stock, the improvement in seed by selection and breeding, and increased intensity in population."

J. P. MORGAN, JR., MADE DIRECTOR

CITY NATIONAL BANK TO SUCCEED HARRIMAN.

Harmonious Relations Between the Kahn, Loeb-Standard Oil Group Clearly Indicated.

MORGAN IS TAKING CONTROL.

New York, Sept. 15.—J. P. Morgan, Jr., was elected to fill the vacancy caused by E. H. Harriman's death on the directorate of the National City bank. Wall street regards this as one of the most significant of the week's financial developments, presumably indicating harmonious relations between the Morgan and the Kahn, Loeb-Standard Oil groups of financiers. The event followed closely reports that Morgan interests were about to take an active interest in the government of the Harriman roads and that the younger Morgan was slated as the ultimate successor to Harriman in command of the Union and Southern Pacific.

The National City bank, the largest of the country's financial institutions, is controlled by the Kahn, Loeb-Standard Oil interests, which yesterday assumed a commanding position in the executive committee of the Union Pacific. George W. Perkins, of the Morgan company, is already a director of that bank, and the additional recognition given the firm was taken to mean the consummation of a working alliance between the two great groups of financiers.

The National City bank has resources of more than $300,000,000, the First National, known as the "Morgan bank," has resources approximating $150,000,000.

Four of the six members of the reconstructed executive committee of the Union Pacific are directors of the National City bank—Jacob H. Schiff, William Rockefeller, Frank A. Vanderlip and Henry C. Frick. Rockefeller and Schiff were elected yesterday when the size of the committee was increased.

The changes made in the Southern Pacific directorate were precisely similar. Judge Lovett succeeded Harriman as chairman of the executive committee. Schiff and Rockefeller were elected directors and made members of the Southern Pacific enlarged executive committee.

There were also meetings of the directors of the Illinois Central and the Wells-Fargo company in which Harriman had membership. Neither took action to fill the vacancy. President Harahan, of the Illinois Central, was authorized to appoint a committee to draft resolutions on Harriman's death.

Tribute to Harriman.

New York, Sept. 15.—The directors of the Union Pacific adopted resolutions which were sent to Mrs. Harriman, expressing sorrow at Harriman's death, tributing him as the genius of the new Union Pacific and Southern Pacific, adding that "the high state of efficiency of these properties, their part in the development of the country, and the solid basis upon which their securities rest, are monuments to his genius, marvelous energy and untiring work."

"His intimate associates appreciate even more the kindness of his heart, the strength of his friendship, the quickness of his sympathy, and his loyalty to all his associates."

GREER PRINCE NEEDS MONEY

Berlin, Sept. 15.—The Vienna correspondent of the Tagblatt announces that Prince Christophers, young son of the king of Greece, contemplates marrying Margaret Drexel, whom he met at the banquet given in celebration of the betrothal of Prince Miguel, of Braganza and Anita Stewart.

New York, Sept. 15.—Miss Margaret Drexel is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Drexel, of Pittsburgh. The family is at present living abroad.

Two hundred acres of land, a site for freight warehouses, have been acquired in the heart of the business district. Work on the new terminals will begin at once.

TRIED TO KILL SELF.

Man Who Jumped From Brooklyn Bridge Discharged.

New York, Sept. 15.—The man who jumped from the Brooklyn bridge into the East river, last Wednesday, and afterwards gave his name as E. L. Mudd, was Eugene L. McCarthy of 38 Crescent street, Dorchester, Mass., in police court today. He was arraigned on a charge of attempted suicide, and was discharged after promising that he would not repeat his attempt.

After McCarthy was discharged he made a remarkable statement as to how the idea of jumping from the Brooklyn bridge took irresistible possession of him. He said he walked over the bridge to Brooklyn and back again, all the time trying to shake off the inclination to jump.

"When I got back to New York," he said, "I thought I would go up town and see more of the city, but in spite of myself my steps turned back toward the bridge. I reached the middle of the bridge and made the leap into the river before I really knew what I was doing. No thought of suicide ever was in my head."

ASQUITH FEARS WOMEN

Guarded By Police While Playing Golf Game.

London, Sept. 15.—Premier Asquith, owing to his fear of the suffragettes, was guarded while playing over the Littlestone golf links yesterday, by five policemen in plain clothes, under command of a Scotland Yard officer.

The premier and his opponent, with their two caddies and half a dozen guardians, made an imposing body as they strode around the course. The presence of a gallery probably put the players off their game, for it took more than three hours to complete the round.

20 Years With Heart Trouble

"Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy has cured me of heart disease of over 20 years' standing. I was so bad that I could not do my work, and could scarcely draw a full breath without fainting or smothering. The doctor told me he could do no more for me; then I commenced taking the Heart Remedy. I shall never forget that night. I slept better than I had before in months. I kept right on getting better, until I was perfectly well."

MRS. LAURA RUSSELL, Logan, Iowa.

When the heart action is weak, it fails to pump the blood through the lungs with sufficient rapidity. Then the lungs do not absorb the proper amount of oxygen, although they may be taking in a normal amount of air. The result is shortness of breath, smothering spells, difficult breathing, oppressed feeling in chest. Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy strengthens the heart nerves and muscles, and in this way increases the circulation.

Get a bottle from your druggist. Take it according to directions, and if it does not benefit he will return your money.

CULMINATION OF WATERWAYS WORK

PRESIDENT TAFT AND TWO CABINET MEMBERS THERE.

Governors and Prominent Men From All Parts of Country In Attendance.

INTEREST IS ON INCREASE.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 15. (Special.)—The culmination of the campaign for improved waterways will be reached in this city when the national rivers and harbors congress meets December next. President Taft, who will be the central figure at this national convention, has made more extensive plans for a personal inspection of the rivers and canals of the United States than any other chief executive in the history of the country. During the fall he will not only make a water trip from St. Louis to New Orleans but be present at the lakes-to-the-gulf waterway convention, but will be in Norfolk, Va., and deliver an address before the Atlantic Deepwaterways convention. These two conventions represent particular projects for waterway development and naturally proceed the national rivers and harbors convention, which for a number of years has been meeting in the capital city of the nation.

President Taft will have as his associates on a most extensive program two members of the cabinet—Secretary Dickinson, of the war department, and Secretary Nagel, of the department of commerce and labor, both of whom, by reason of the portfolios which they hold are intimately associated with the waterways of the country. In addition to these distinguished citizens, addresses will be made by the German ambassador, Count J. H. von Helldorf; Governor Judson S. Harner, of Ohio; Governor Hadley, of Missouri, and editors of leading newspapers representing the several sections of the country. It is also expected that in view of the prominence of this national convention, whose one object is to improve the waterways of the United States, that the Canadian government will be represented either by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Premier, or Earl Gray, the governor general, efforts with that end in view being already under way.

The object of the national rivers and harbors congress is to educate the people to the importance of the fact that the national government, having assumed the control and improvement of the rivers and harbors of the country, is unequivocally bound to discharge these obligations promptly and by sound business methods, that the great natural waterways may be made to do their share in the work of transportation. Interest in the forthcoming convention is on the increase and it is confidently believed that there will be 5,000 delegates in attendance. Secretary Ellison of the congress, having assurances from governors of states, mayors of cities and officials of commercial bodies that the movement for a broad and comprehensive policy of waterway-development is spreading throughout the country due in large part to the campaign inaugurated by the national rivers and harbors congress.

BOUGHT WIFE NO MELON

So Wife Tried to Widge Woman He Had Hired Melon For.

Oklahoma, City, Okla., Sept. 15.—In a jealous rage today Mrs. M. B. Clark attempted to administer a horsewhipping to Mrs. Kate Peary. The latter was fined in police court, Mrs. Clark's husband paid the fine.

"I followed my husband Saturday with a buggy whip," said Mrs. Clark. "I saw him sitting on Mrs. Peary's porch, and he bought her a watermelon. This made me very angry. A few days ago I wanted him to buy me a watermelon, and he said he didn't have any money. When I saw them walking on the street together today I ran up and struck both of them with the whip. Then my husband grabbed me and held me while Mrs. Peary struck me in the face with her umbrella stick."

Anty Drudge Joins the Painters' Union.

First Painter—"We've called to inform you, Anty, that you are elected an honorary member of the Painters' Union."

Second Painter—"That's because you told our wives how to save us money by washing our white suits with Fels-Naptha instead of sending them to the laundry. The suits last three times as long."

Anty Drudge—"Thank you, gentlemen. That makes nine unions I belong to for the same reason. The others are the machinists, printers, butchers, blacksmiths, shoemakers, miners, railwaymen and plasterers."

In all households there is a deal of cleaning and scrubbing to do at the end of the week. Use Fels-Naptha. It does the cleaning easily, and makes the house cleaner and brighter.

Fels-Naptha whitens floors, brightens painted woodwork and brings out the colors in oil-cloth and linoleum. It cleans polished hardwood floors and varnished surfaces without dulling.

It cleans and polishes windows, and the glass in china closets or bookcases. Makes the glass shine like sparkling crystal.

Every woman knows that a porcelain bathtub is hard to keep white and clean. Fels-Naptha and a soft cloth keep it shining and spotless with very little work. Same for tiling or mirrors.

And Fels-Naptha does all this in cold or lukewarm water. No need of fire to heat water; and you don't need a scrubbing brush. Sounds easy, doesn't it? And it is as easy as it sounds.

Try it in your cleaning this week. Follow directions on the red and green wrapper.

MISS DE RAE'S ASSISTANT HELD.

Woman Now in Vaudeville—David Mackay Sold Prudent Literature.

New York, Sept. 15.—David Livingston Mackay, assistant to Ann Odella Dismal, now performing at a vaudeville house in New York, has been ordered excluded by a board of special inquiry at Ellis Island.

Mackay was arrested several days ago and taken to the island. On investigation it was learned, according to the minutes of the special inquiry board, that he had been convicted in Bristol, Canada, of selling prurient literature over the counter of a grocery store which he was running, and that he had served a sentence of four months' imprisonment for the offense.

Mackay makes all things difficult, but ago and taken to the island. On industry all easy.—Franklin.

EGGS WORTH $1.600 A PIECE

THOSE OF GREAT AUK BRING
SMALL-SIZED FORTUNES.

The Auk is Now Extinct, But Eggs
of California Vulture Are Listed
at $225 Each.

IS AN IMPORTANT INDUSTRY

If you have in your possession an egg of the great auk you may get $1,600 for it.

Not many persons, of course, have an auk's egg handy. In fact, there are few in existence—only about
seven—and the fact that the great
auk is now extinct means that a fresh supply of eggs is not obtainable.

There are a number of other rare
species, however, which make worth
while the time expended and dangers faced by collectors. One of the most valuable now on the market is the egg of the California vulture, or con-
dor, which is listed in the catalogue
at $225 each, although it is sometimes obtainable for less. The cheapest egg is that of the mourning dove,
which is listed at 2 cents.

Oology is the name given to their science by men who make a study of birds' eggs.

In presenting this study they have
added largely to the world's knowledge of bird life, for the real life of
the bird is centered about its nest,
and the man who makes a business,
intelligently, of collecting eggs has
rare opportunities of observing the habits and manners of the bird at home.

Important Industry.

A more important industry than
many persons suppose is the business
of collecting and selling eggs. It is not a large nor a noisy body of men
engaged in this business; they meet
with many interesting adventures and spend many of their days amidst the
lovely grandeur of nature; they scale
rugged cliffs in California, or penetrate the fever-engendering jungles
along the Amazon with the same
good frolic that marked the climbing
of an apple tree for a robin's nest in
the days of their youth.

As a rule the remuneration of these men does not compare with the work they do and the risks they take.
Those sent out by some large museum or by a wealthy collector like Tschischlag fare better, of course,
than the free lance and men who do
collecting upon speculation and largely
for mere love of the work.

Prices are fixed largely by dealers
in eggs and naturalists' supplies. One or more such dealers may be found
in almost every large city in this country, and they are even more numerous in Europe.

A standard list of all the birds of North America has been made by the American Ornithologists' Union, and
this is the principal guide of the dealer, who apper prices and revise
their catalogues each year.

Valuable Collections.
Some of the collections made by enthusiasts are very valuable. A year or so ago a collection was sold
in the eastern part of the United States. In it were ninety sets of the eggs of the California vulture, now
very rare, and many sets in series of
the eggs of humming birds, wild
geese, etc.

NO REASON FOR IT.

When Paducah Citizens Show the Certain Way Out.

There can be no just reason why
any reader of this will continue to suffer the tortures of an aching
back, the annoyance of urinary disorders, the dangers of diabetes of
any kidney ills when relief is so near at hand and the most positive
proof given that they can be cured.

Read what a Paducah citizen says:
Mrs. C. C. Hayman, 500 South
Fourth Street, Paducah, Ky., says:

"Doan's Kidney Pills are by no
means a new remedy in our home.
We first used them about six years ago when living in Nashville. At that time a member of the family
was complaining a great deal of pains in his back and sides. The kidney secretions were also causing
him much annoyance on account of their irregularity in passage. Doan's Kidney Pills removed the trouble completely. I know of many other people who have taken this remedy
and the result in each case have been
so gratifying that I do not hesitate
to recommend it."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo,

States.

been unable to locate preserved specimens.

At first mention of the fact one is not apt to realize that an infinite
variety of adventures may be found in hunting the eggs of a number of
shore birds, ducks, geese and swan.

Most of these varieties nest far in the north, and men who hunt for
their eggs must necessarily travel
well within the shadow of the Arctic circle. A great deal of time and effort has been expended of late years, for instance, in endeavoring to find later-day traces of the Labrador
duck. This duck is now extinct, so far as known, and oologists have
been unable to locate preserved specimens of its eggs.

The egg collector, who finds something valuable near his home or camp
has considerable advantage over the one who must penetrate forests or range inhospitable shores. Being near his base of operations he gathers a nest of eggs and takes the lot home
or to camp to be prepared for preservation.

He may be too far away from here
to do this, however. In that case he prepares the eggs on the spot. Each
collector carries with him a pocket
set of tools for such emergencies.

Principal Tool is Drill.

His principal tool is a drill similar to that of a dentist, with a pointed
bar on the end, kept as sharp as a needle. These drills are of different sizes for different sized eggs.

To prepare an egg for preservation
the collector drills a hole in the side
which is least heavily marked and
then inserts his blowpipe in this hole.
It is a pipe made for the purpose and speedily removes the contents of the egg shell.

Then the shell is carefully lined
with water containing corrosive sub-
limate of some sort of preservative
poison, and is placed on a drop of sand or cornmeal to dry.

Sometimes it is necessary to use a solvent to decompose the contents of an egg shell. Pancreatin, which is an extra strong medicine, is generally employed. When the shells have been cleaned and prepared for the cabinet,
they are labeled and placed in natural or artificial nests.

The collector carries with him a
note book in which he sets down such interesting circumstances regarding
the nests, their location and the apparent habits of the parent birds as he may ascertain.

Many ducks, for instance, line
their nests with down taken from their own bodies. The wood and the golden-eye duck take their young to
the water as soon as they are hatched.
A vast deal of interesting information
about bird life has been collected by collectors of eggs.

Perhaps a future market may offer
more than $1,600 for a single bird
egg, but so far the egg of the great
auk holds the record among oologists.—Exchange.

Rheumatism Cured.
For the benefit of suffering humanity, I will say that I had a severe attack of muscular rheumatism the latter part of January, 1908. I have had inflammatory rheumatism at most all my life. I tried a number of remedies, obtaining only temporary relief. By the use of a little more than one bottle of Hays' Specific the disease was conquered. It is a system cleanser, a blood purifier and a pain destroyer. Sold by

MRS. JACOBS WANTS DIVORCE.
Pretty and Fast Auto Driver Brings Suit for Separation.

Pittsburgh, Sept. 15.—Mrs. E. C.
W. Jacobs, wife of the owner of an East End hotel, one of the prettiest
women in Pittsburgh, and certainly driver of the fastest motor car, has brought suit for divorce. Among other things, she charges that her husband thinks too much of the cham-bermaids in his hotel. Her attorney, L. H. Cook, has just filed the bill of libel.

Mrs. Jacobs, who fell out with her husband some weeks since, took a 2-700 mile spin in her automobile to compose her mind. She returned a few days ago and the filing of preliminary papers followed.

Will Try to Break Down Divorce Proceedings in Oklahoma.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 15.—
Astounded by the remarkable divorce
crop in Oklahoma county local judges
have arrived at a tacit agreement,
after a well considered plan of action, to decline to entertain applications for divorce upon the uncorroborated testimony of plaintiffs. In the past six weeks more than 200 divorce
suits have been filed in local courts,
most of them alleging sensational
wrongs. Failure of plaintiffs to produce evidence led to scathing arraigh-
ments from the bench and final condemned action as indicated. In one notable case the court very strongly intimated his mystification and his suspicion that he was being called upon to consider an "arranged" divorce, a situation which he declared
would not be tolerated.

MRS. PERIN HEARTBROKEN.

Domestic Troubles Made Philadelphia
Woman a Suicide.

Harrow, England, Sept. 15.—The Inquest into the suicide last Saturday
of Mrs. Lawrence Perin, daughter of the late Gen. Victor A. Sartor of Philadelphia, who killed herself with a revolver, was adjourned until September 22. In order to permit Mrs.
Perin's husband to attend.

Mrs. Arkoyd, at whose house Mrs.
Perin killed herself, said that Mrs.
Perin was unhappy in her married life. She declared also that the letter left by the suicide was brief and gave no reason for the tragedy. It was asked of Mrs. Arkoyd to send cablegrams to Perin, but not break
the news all at once.

Soldier of Fortune Dead.
Bremerton, Wash., Sept. 15.—Captain Thomas Phelan, of Kansas City,
soldier of fortune, died yesterday at Bremerton, aged 76 years. While visiting in his native country, Ireland
many years ago, Phelan learned of a plot to blow up the British ship
Queen, and warned the officers of the navy in time to prevent the execution of the plan. Following the re-
posure of this plot Phelan was requested to call at the office of O'Don-ovan Rossa, editor of the Irishman,
of New York. While in the office Phelan was stabbed thirteen times
and his arm was broken, but he recovered.

FOUND IN DEATH'S VALLEY.

Bodies of Two Miners Who Perished
of Thirst Recovered.

Rhyolite, Nev., Sept. 15.—The bodies of Emory Bodge and Tom Flanz, two miners, who perished of
thirst while attempting to cross
Death Valley, were found Saturday,
four miles west of Skidoo, Cal., by members of the searching party scouring the desert for a brother of President Eldridge, of the National Sewing Machine company, who has been lost for three weeks.

The men whose bodies were found
left Rhyolite late in August, and started to cross Death Valley, where
the thermometer reaches 130 degrees in the shade during the summer months. They carried two canteens of water each, but this supply

must have been exhausted before they had gone half way. Crazed by thirst, they wandered about until they were overcome by the heat and lay down to die.

nounced that Charles E. Brown, of Refining company, its directors, and

PADUCAH IS THE BEST MARKET you will find anywhere near you. This is easily proven by a comparison of the stocks of Paducah merchants, and the prices. The big fall stocks are now on display, showing complete assortments in every line. Paducah merchants undersell Memphis, St. Louis, Evansville or Louisville or nearby cities, as is shown every day by the increasing number of people who come here to buy. Everybody is treated courteously and fair. All prominent Paducah merchants are members of the Retail Merchants' Association, which has an arrangement by which if you buy a certain amount of goods your round trip railroad or steamboat fare is refunded.

ALL LANDS MEET AT NORTH POLE

THAT MAKES AN INTERESTING
QUESTION, TOO

Squabble Over Ownership Might
Arise Involving Longitude
Discussion.

HOW SCIENTISTS REGARD IT

Washington, Sept. 15.—What profiteth it a man to discover the north pole when he can neither own it, nor sell it, nor give it away?

And yet that is precisely the situation, no matter what may be determined in the present deplorable controversy—whether Cook or Peary saw it first.

One of the interesting questions which have arisen out of efforts of these explorers as to the jurisdiction which may now extend to the pole by right of discovery. Have they extended the possessions of the United States or have they merely added to the holdings of some other nation?

Already two countries have put in their claims to whatever may have been found at the top of the world. Denmark insists that it belongs to her as a part of Greenland, Canada claims it as a part of her northern possessions. And American citizens found it. Under these circumstances Peary has a right to offer the pole to President Taft as though it were something he owned and could give to the American nation? It is a question which has puzzled many eminent geographers and statesmen.

Light upon the subject is shed by a high official of the state department, according to whose argument no one nation can claim special jurisdiction there, but the finding of the pole is a gift to the whole world.

There are three ways by which this question of rights of discovery are settled. One, which has been recognized for many years, applies to such matters as the finding of an isolated islet in the Pacific, for instance. In such a case the discoverer, by planting the flag of his country, and making formal declaration, annexes the new land.

Another way applies more particularly to Arctic exploration. If new lands are discovered and they prove to be a continuation of, and part of land already known, those new lands belong to the same sovereignty that owns the old land. Thus, if Cook's and Peary's discoveries should have developed to be merely continuations of Greenland, Denmark's claim would be pre-eminent.

But this is utterly disproved because it has been demonstrated that Greenland is an island. Amundsen in his explorations, proved this by circumnavigating it. Thus the Danish claim falls to the ground.

The third way, which applies to the Canadian contention, is the claim of nations to the "hinterland" which stretches back from their acknowledged possessions. There are several familiar instances of this in Africa. The "hinterland" extends until it meets the acknowledged jurisdiction of another power.

But, in the case of the north pole, it is situated at a point where all the meridians converge and where all the "hinterlands" of all the northern nations meet. For that reason no one of them can set up a claim to the pole without meeting the counter-claims of others. Therefore, it is the world's possession and not that of any one country.

As for the possession of any islands or lands which may have been discovered by either Cook or Peary above the 87th parallel in their dashes to the pole, this same state department authority is of the opinion that they would be in the same category as Spitzbergen, which, although discovered over 200 years ago, has never been claimed by any civilized government and is still a "No Man's Land."

But, although, from the argument of this learned authority, neither Cook nor Peary can own, sell nor give away the north pole, there are profits that come to such explorers in another way. So long as the controversy exists as to which got there first, and so long as the whole civilized world is divided into two parties, each claiming to be the discoverer, the other in Peary, the two men are certain to be in great demand for matters as the finding of an isolated calculated that both of them will be worth at least a half million dollars within the next year or two as a result of their enterprise. That is the golden reward to come to them for their efforts and sacrifices, and bravery in facing the untold dangers of the north.

Hardly had Dr. Cook had time to get a shave and a new suit of clothes before he was approached with an offer of $125,000 for the exclusive rights for the publication of his book. It was a big price, but it was not accepted. Just as soon as Peary came forward with his claim, and his "knocking" of Cook's achievements, instead of depreciating the market for Cook's writings, it soared upward. An American firm of book publishers promptly came forward with an offer to Cook of $250,000, just double the original amount bid for his work.

Following this came a proposition from a representative of a feature bureau who suggested a willingness to pay $250,000 to Cook for a series of 100 lectures. An American theatrical concern invited him to name his own figures and consider the deal closed. In addition, a magazine offered him $20,000 for a single article dealing with his trip to the pole. Peary has been bombarded with equally lucrative propositions from the bookmakers and the lecture managers.

Both of them will be great drawing cards for some years to come, both here and in Europe, and, from present indications, the incomes that each will receive will make the salary of the president of the United States look puny by comparison.

So it does profit a man to find the north pole, even though he is not able to sell it.

For Scientists.

Upon the well-thumbed "log books" which contain the day-to-day observations of Dr. Cook and Commander Peary, will depend the acceptance by scientists of their respective claims of discovery of the north pole.

Nearly all authorities here agree that it would be easier to discover the pole than to "fake" these records—nevertheless, there is a possibility that it might be done. So, in the end, those who will judge of the achievements of the two claimants for the honor of reaching the top of the world, will rely very greatly on the appearance of the diaries of the two explorers.

Washington scientific men say that three factors enter into the method of proof which will judge the explorers' claims. First, their daily observations, taken with a sextant, must tally with conditions known to have existed at that time.

Second, astronomical sharps will look for certain slight errors which, it is said, must of a certainty appear in calculations made with the instruments the two interlopers used in their observations.

Third, the record of these observations must infallibly show, in the opinion of scientists, the conditions under which they were made—that is, if the explorers entered their records while actually en route and at the pole, that diary would certainly be a well-thumbed, dirty, smeary volume. The figures ought to be straggling—to indicate that cold-numbed fingers penned them.

It is in the last two factors that Dr. Willis Moore, president of the national geographic society, chief of the U. S. Weather bureau, and a well known scientist, believes the burden of proof will rest.

"If an explorer, intent upon faking observations, was an expert astronomer, and a mathematical marvel, it might be possible for him to compile a day to day record that would hold water," said Dr. Moore today, when asked as to the possibility of "faking" records. "Still, this looks to me to be a difficult task. But granting he could do this, it would be still harder to duplicate a thumb-worn log-book, and the lack of errors in his account would convict him. For a faker would have no means of knowing, even if he compiled his record under the most favorable conditions, how to reproduce errors that arose from conditions existing at the time he claimed to have discovered the pole.

Dr. Moore declares that scientific men are not expecting any great conflict of the Cook and Peary claims after the records of each of the claimants have been passed upon by scientific authorities. "The observations of an explorer," said he, "would be similar to those of a navigator. However, since he does not have the facilities of an ocean liner, his observations would probably vary slightly—though, if they were taken carefully, this variation should not be more than a few minutes. To make these observations would not require so experienced an astronomer as it would to duplicate them, had they not been made. All the instruments needed would be a sextant and a mercurial horizon—the latter being a plate and a tube of mercury used to secure an exact level.

"The observations would be based upon the apparent elevation of the sun above the plane of the horizon. An explorer would be certain that he had found the pole when this elevation remained practically the same throughout the twenty-four hours. Naturally this means that any explorer claiming to have located the pole must have remained there one entire day—merely for the sake of confirming this."

Prof. Milton Udegren, professor of mathematics, U. S. N., and director of the Nautical Almanac, further explaining this said:

"To an observer standing exactly at the pole, the sun would, during the day, move around the horizon at an altitude of about 12 degrees, the height slowly increasing as the declination of the sun increases by one-third of a degree a day. If the observer were provided with a sextant and a mercurial horizon, he would measure the altitude of the sun hour by hour, and aside from the above-mentioned gradual increase in the declination of the sun, the altitude of the sun would remain the same.

"Upon Dr. Cook's ability to make these observations with benumbed hands, no facilities for conveying his instruments, and the most discouraging condition for recording them, rests his claim to discovery of the pole.

"On April 21, when Cook claims to have discovered the northernmost point, there would be the sun for observations. During the months from October to February the sun at and near the pole, is below the horizon. Observations during that period of darkness would have to be made from the stars."
